

Certified Management Accountant (CMA)

The Certified Management Accountant (CMA) develops critical information to assist management in the strategic and operational decision-making process. The CMA designation provides a mark of distinction in the field of management accounting. The four-part examination includes the following:

- Business Analysis
- Management Accounting & Reporting
- Strategic Management
- Business Applications

A candidate must meet the following requirements:

- Be a member of the Institute of Management Accountants. To apply or for more information go to www.imanet.org
- Obtain a bachelor's degree.
- Acquire two years of continuous experience in management accounting/financial management.
- Be of high moral character.
- Adhere to the Standards of Ethical Conduct for Management Accountants.